About Our Firm

Available Light is an award winning lighting design firm working in the fields of Museum Exhibition, Architecture, and Corporate Communications. Starting in 1990, with designs for the Virginia Air & Space Center, Available Light has had the great honor and fortune of working with many of the top Museum Exhibition Design firms in the field. Credited with over 150 museum projects Available Light is a leader and innovator in the field of Exhibition Lighting Design.

Available Light is a pioneer in the revolution that has vastly increased the scope and depth of the museum visitor experience. By applying theatrical lighting technique to museum exhibition the visitor can now be immersed in the world of exploration and learning—the guest is no longer simply an abject bystander blinded by 2-dimensional graphic panels and glaring light bulbs. Available Light believes that imaginative design fosters education; creating dynamic spaces that are at once fun and that encourage people to gather is the first step in the educational process.

Our full service approach embraces the entire building process, from design concept through the final tune-up and lighting focus. Photometric calculations, virtual rendered representations, models, and mock-ups are tools employed to facilitate the design process. Our team is committed to providing the precise specifications & details, accurate cost estimates, and timely communication essential to any successful lighting installation. We are a firm involved in a number of projects seeking LEED certification; we are familiar, engaged, and enthusiastically supportive of the process. Our goal at Available Light is to balance creativity, solid technical solutions, and practical business sense. We work as a team in delivering our skills and experience to the service of both the Designer's vision and the Owner's expectations.
