

National Museum of the Marine Corps

Quantico VA

The Marine's esprit de corps is rooted in history and tradition. Our task: convey that history through the eyes of the Marines while appealing to a mostly lay public. To rouse passion and create a rich impression of place and time, a heightened sense of theatricality was layered throughout the program. Lighting was a key component and every detail was painstakingly designed to balance drama, support of curatorial exhibit criteria, and real-world maintenance concerns. From immersive environments that thrilled the senses to spaces that encourage thoughtful reflection and memory, the museum is a bigger than life, state-of-the-art visitor experience.

Exhibit Design: Christopher Chadbourne & Associates
 Photo: Jay Rosenblatt
 Completed: 2007